AI for Process

“Process reengineering is the assembly line revolution of the AI era”

DCITS identified AI for Process as the critical leap for enterprise AI adoption. Throughout enterprise development, the continuous evolution and interaction of business models, management methods, and technological paradigms serve as the core driving force for building new engines in the digital era. The point where these transformations converge is the enterprise’ s processes. By embedding AI into corporate workflows, businesses can create closed-loop systems of “data–decision–value,” fundamentally redefining competitiveness.
